A long debate was carried on in low tones, while George Swayne endeavoured to look as though he wore a hundred miles off, listening to nothing. But the loving accents of the girl, debating with her mother tenderly, caused Mr. Swayne--a stout and true hearted young fellow of twentyfive--to feel that there were certainly some new thoughts and sensations working in him. He considered it important to discover from her mother s manner of addressing her that tho name of the young woman was Susan. When the old lady at last oonsented with a wish to George s offer, he placed ten guineas on the table beside the needlework, and only stole one glance at Susan, as he bade good-bye, and took the flower-pot away, promising again earnestly that he would bring back to them the first good cutting that took root....
