Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Primary Geography of the State of New Jersey: With a Proposed Course of Study for Primary and Grammar Schools Appreciating the demand for something on the subject of local geography, and the need of suggestions to those who are trying to teach the child how to study the world in which he lives from his own stand-point, the authors have prepared these few pages, in the hope that they may be of some assistance in this direction. By this method, it is not intended to confine the teacher to certain questions which must be answered in a particular way, but to suggest the line in which the subject may be presented to the child and the objects of study to which his attention may be called, in order that he may store up in his mind the material upon which he is to build in the future study of geography. This must not be used simply as a question book in the hands of the teacher, but must be taken and comprehended as a whole, that the idea or spirit of the plan may be realized and thus become a thing of growth in the mind of the person using it. We assume that each child lives and moves in a little world of his own, which may be circumscribed by a small circle or by a larger one, as circumstances may have favored him, but which is in a degree familiar to him is within the range of his personal observation, is easily comprehended, is capable of greater expansion, and abounds with interest. Although these scenes may have become well known, the facts and...
