By Elizabeth Cleghorn Gaskell

Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Mother, I should so like to have a great deal of money, said little Tom Fletcher one evening, as he sat on a low stool by his mother s knee. His mother was knitting busily by the firelight, and they had both been silent for some time. What would you do with a great deal of money if you had it? Oh! I don t know-I would do a great many things. But should not you like to have a great deal of money, mother? persisted he. Perhaps I should, answered Mrs. Fletcher. I am like you sometimes, dear, and think that I should be very glad of a little more money. But then I don t think I am like you in one thing, for I have always some little plan in my mind, for which I should want the money. I never wish for it just for its own sake.

Reviews

This publication may be really worth a go through, and a lot better than other. It really is writter in simple terms and never difficut to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
